Feel your floor

Parla since 1963. When Olavi Räsänen started to manufacture parquet flooring in 1963, he had trust in the natural beauty of real wood as a furnishing material and high quality parquet flooring. A long time has passed, but we still trust the same things.

Today, the Parla quality comes from premium raw materials, decades of R&D and the uncompromising craftsmanship. More and more people in Finland and abroad are pleased by the well-produced parquets and by their outstanding and individualistic design. Wood itself charms with its genuineness and uniqueness, and in the hands of Finnish designers it turns into modern parquet. Factors such as ethicality as well as ecological effects express our values as a Finnish parquet producer.

We want to offer genuine and sustainable products that stand out in quality and design. We proudly continue as a developer of Finnish carpentry skills and design, and we cherish the traditions born during these decades. In particular, we want you to feel your floor.
